Pocono Mountains Fall Golf Top 10

The Fall Foliage Report is up at 800poconos.com, showing peak leaf-peeper season will continue through most of October. Here are our ten picks for best fall golf spots in the Pocono Mountains:

Northern Zone (peak: Oct. 8) - Visit the Lake Region and head to Hawley for brilliant red and orange color. Woodloch Springs is your best bet above I-84 (see our exclusive Pocono Special, below); or Red Maples for a nine-hole round.

Southern Zone (peak: Oct. 12) - Look for Shawnee, Hideaway Hills, Split Rock and Jack Frost National for red-orange and yellows when you're on or below I-80.

Central Zone (peak: October 17): There are a wealth of courses through this region between the interstates, so plan for a long weekend. Skytop Lodge and Buck Hill are two favorites, but don't forget Mount Airy and Pocono Manor, as well.

See below for great rates and other fall activities in the region for a fun-filled trip for the entire family.
